Chapter 1 by Amanda Vigil

Today was the day I have dreaded for months. The first day of my junior year of high school. Now before you say anything. I don't mind the actual learning part of school. It's just I've been bullied at school since 2nd grade. I get bullied by my ex-best friend Lilly. She bullies me verbally, physically, and sometimes mentally. I don't know why she does it and every time I ask her she either pushes me down or calls me a bitch then stomps away. Well now it time for me to go to my own personal hell.

Chapter 2 by alina

I packed my bags and got ready for school. I slowly ate my breakfast and considered skipping. My mother would figure out though. She is strict about school work, even though I get all A's and B's. She won't wake up until she has to go to work. I walk to the bus stop, trying to stall. I check the time and it is two minutes until the bus should get there. I'm already waiting, and guess who's also at my bus stop? Lilly. However, next to her, I see this boy who is cute as hell. Immediately I start to stare. Lilly stands in front of me.

"Hey bitch. Long time no see!" She acts all nice then leans towards me.

"You stay away from that boy. He will be MINE."

felt stronger this year than any of the past years. I think this year will be better. I look around, enjoying myself and all consumed in my thoughts. I realized that the cute new boy was looking at me and smiling. He said, "Hi, I'm Caleb Summers. I'm new to Trevor Hill High. I'm a junior. What are you?" I answer with "Hi, I'm Mackenzie Seals and I'm a junior too!" I didn't want to sound too excited, but I think I still did. I realized I sounded way too happy when he giggled. And what a beautiful giggle it was. The bus showed up seconds later.

Chapter 4 by ✨MimiLewís✨

As I got on the bus for the first time in forever I had a sense of protection and confidence. I felt amazing. It was the feeling of security. The thought of Lilly not attacking me was the most difficult thing to think but now I think it will all be over.

"Hey, Kenzie, you wanna sit with me?" Caleb asked with a friendly smile on his face. I nodded as we walked through the aisles. He slipped into a seat on the back, and I tried to follow him, but then I was tripped and fell onto the lap of Trevor Curran, the arrogant, cocky captain of the basketball team, who's a senior.

I heard laughing from the entire bus.

"Ugh! Mackenzie, you did it! LOSER!" Lilly exclaims. "Caleb, don't you sit next to me?"

"Uh... Caleb hesitates. I hear the whole bus laughing. "You're cool, say it and you're cool, say it and you're cool!"

"Get off of me, nerd!" Trevor yells. "I want to sit next to Caleb, but Lilly's already sitting there."

"He's mine now, bitch!" Lilly exclaims dramatically.

"Um, no I'm not..." Caleb says, confused. "Kenzie, what's happening?"

"It's not important...just like her." I smile. "Wanna go sit somewhere else?"

"Sure. Lilly, move somewhere else, I wanna sit next to my friend." Caleb says bravely. That was the moment when I fell in love with him.
